POETRY.

DO NOT TELL A LIE.

Oh, Henry, do not tell a lie,
'Tis a mean thing to do,
A noble boy would rather die
Than say what is not true.

No person trusts a lying youth;
If once you have deceived,
When afterwards you speak the truth,
You will not be believed.

Ask for the Holy Spirit's aid,
God loves to help the weak;
He will not let you go afraid,
The honest truth to speak.

Mr. Nasby suggests a "Psalm of Sadness" for his friends South.

Saints Rest, (which is in the State of)
N. J. New Jersey, Sept. 12, 1865.

The utter and abrupt state of confusion into which the Democracy find themselves, North and South, makes a day of fasting appropriate. If the Lord is ever good to help us, now is his time.

If my clerical brethren in the church south decide to appoint a day of fasting and prayer, I submit the following as a sam av agony, appropriate for the occasion:

A SAM AV AGONY.

On the street I see a nigger.
On his back a coat of blood, and he carrieth a musket.

He is Provo Guard, and he halloeth me, ex vultu auctoritatis.

And my tender laughter split on him, and lo! he arrested her, and she languished in the yard-house.

My eyes doth dwell on him, and my soul is an artesian well of woe; it gusheth with grief. For that nigger wuz my nigger—I bought him with a price.

Alas! that nigger is out of his normal condition, he is a star out of his sphere, who creepeth thro' the polittike hevins, smashing things.

Normally he wuz wuth gold and silver—now he is a nitemare.

Once I was rich, and that nigger was the basis thereof.

Woe me! Lowned him, sole, body, sinos, muskles, blood, bones and britches.

His intellect was mine, and his body was mine, likewise his labor and all the froots thereof.

His wife was mine, and she was my conkebbine.

The normal results of the conkebbinage I sold, combining pleasure and profit in a eminent degree.

And on the price thereof I played poker, and drank mint gooleps, and rode in gigen chairs, and wore purple and fine linen every day.

Was this misnegation or nigger equality? Not any. For she was mine, even as my ass, or my ox, or my horse, or my sheep, and her increase was mine, even as was theirs.

Abilishu negation elevates the nigger wench to her level—I did it for gain, which degraded her soul.

And when the wife of my buzzum lifted up her voice in complaint, saying, "Lo, I am abused—this little nigger resembleth thee!" half the price of the infant chattel wood buy a diamond pin with which to stop her yawp.

And my boys follered in my footsteps, and grute was the mix, but profitable.

But my dream is busted.

The nigger is free, and demands wages, whether she'll leave to her husband, or be my conkebbine.

Yesterday I bade her come to me, and lo! she remarkt, "Go 'way, white man, or I'll bust yer head."

And I goded.

Her children are free—they are mine, likewise, but I can't tell 'em on the block, to the highest bidder.

Therein Linkin sm'ed—he violatid the holiest and highest instincts of our nacher; he interposed a proclamation atween father and child.

We took the heathen from Afreka, and was a makin christians uv 'em. Wo to him who stopt us in our missionary work.

It is written—"Kin the Ethiopie change his skin?" I was a changing it for him, I and my fathers, and we had mellered it down to a brittle yaller.

Dark is my facher.

I obeyed the grate law av labor, ez I served in the army, by substitution—now shall I have to stain my hands with labor, or starve?

In what am I better than a Northern mad-sill?

I kin git no more diamond pins for the wife uv my buzzum, and she yawpeth continually.

Arrayed in homespun she wrestles with pots and kettles in the kitchen.

Weighted down with woe, she dips snuff in silence.

through the Red Sea of war and bondage to a fairer future of liberty and peace. I speak now as one who feels the world his country, and all who love equal rights his friends. I speak, too, as a citizen of Tennessee. I am here on my own soil; and here I mean to stay and fight this great battle of truth and justice to a triumphant end. Rebellion and slavery shall, by God's good help, no longer pollute our State. Loyal men, whether white or black, shall alone control our destinies; and when this strife in which we are all engaged is past, I trust, we shall have a better state of things, and shall all rejoice that honest labor reaps the fruit of its own industry, and that every man has a fair chance the race of life.

What a contrast between the above and his late speech in Washington, to the 1st colored regiment.

A TRUE GOVERNOR.

Gov. Marvin, of Florida, talks like a true man. He says:

"And I am free to confess, that in view of the disorganized state of society, it is well, in my judgment, that slavery has passed away forever. Supposing the institution remained and the 150,000 colored troops, who have been thoroughly drilled in the use of arms, and instructed in the rights of freemen, and who have exhibited on many a battlefield, and in the storming of batteries, a steadiness and a courage equal to that of the white man, were turned loose among us, how long would that institution last, or whose life or property would be secure? In that case slavery would disappear in carnage and in rivers of blood. Thank God, the thing is out of the way, and we are safe. The future of Florida in this respect, is that of every other state in the Union, except Kentucky and Delaware, and shortly these states must be free. As citizens, before the law, the freedmen must be in all respects our equals."

On the subject of negro testimony in court he is explicit. Pity Alabama could not have such a Governor.

"Furthermore, the constitution must declare that persons of color shall be admitted as witnesses in all courts of civil jurisprudence. The law, in this respect, must know no distinction of color."

"I am aware that this is a hard doctrine to many, but it is not, and never was such to me. Some think the negro constitutionally a liar—that falsehood is marrow in his bones, and that it circulates in his blood. Now that is not true, in whole or in part, and the statement is a slander upon both God and man. An experience of thirty years in the South has satisfied me that the slave has told the truth, while the master has lied. For some years I occupied the bench, and many are the instances where I have known guilty parties to go unwhipped of justice because colored people could not come into court and testify. The admission of such witnesses would have given the State Prison or the gallows its due, and relieved society of bad and dangerous characters. I have much feeling upon this subject, because the impressive and painful lessons of years crowd in on my memory. You know that the mental classes of all nations are permitted to appear in court and testify, and that in some instances lords and nobles have been sent to the gallows on the evidence of house servants. Our colored population are as well qualified to testify as they. You keep the negro out of court, and what chance has he for justice? Just none at all. The government and the world are aware of this, and I do not think congress will regard the constitution you may frame as republican in form, or calculated to secure the ends of justice to all citizens, unless the negro is permitted to come into court as a witness. I may be mistaken, but should that wrong be perpetrated, and your constitution rejected on that account, for one I shall acquiesce in the justice of the decision. The fact is, we have no other course left us, but to make a clean breast of this whole business, do full justice to the negro, though he is of an inferior race, and remove the whole subject growing out of his slavery, emancipation, and status from the theater of politics."

Reconstruction.—We were never satisfied with the President's reconstruction policy. That policy that secures the praise of the foes of the Union the last four years, may well excite our apprehensions. The rebel States are put on too short probation. The following resolution adopted by the Republican State Convention of Penn. strikes a key note to which the whole Republican party will respond:

"Resolved, That the mild and generous method of reconstruction offered by the President to the people lately in rebellion, in the judgment of this convention, has not been accepted in a spirit of honest loyalty and gratitude, but with such evidence of defiance and hostility as to impel us to the conviction that they cannot be safely entrusted with the political rights which they rejected by their treason, until they have proven of their acceptance of the results of the war, and incorporated them in constitutional provisions, securing to all men within their borders their inalienable rights to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

SPEECH BY CHAS. SUMNER.

WAYS TO OBTAIN GUARANTEES.

Such are some of the modes to be rejected. And now, in the second place, consider the ways in which guarantees may be obtained.

(1.) Time is necessary. There must be no precipitation. Time is the gentlest, but most powerful revolutionist. Time is the surest reformer. Time is a peace maker. Time is necessary to growth, and it is an element of change. For thirty years and more this wickedness was maturing. Who can say that the same time will not be needed how to mature the conditions of permanent peace? Who can say that a generation must not elapse before the rebel communities have been so far changed as to become safe associates in a common government? Plainly, this cannot be done at once. Wellington exclaimed, "Would that night or Blucher had come!" Time alone was a substitute for a powerful ally. It was more through time than battle that La Vendee was changed in loyalty. Time, therefore, we must have. Through time all other guarantees may be obtained; but time itself is a guarantee.

PRESENT EXCLUSION OF REBELS FROM POLITICAL POWER.

(2.) Meanwhile we must follow congress in the present exclusion of all rebels from political power. They must not be voted for, and they must not vote. On this principle I take my stand. Let them buy and sell; let them till the ground; and they may be industrious and successful. These things they may do; but they must not be admitted at once into the co-partnership of our government. As well might the respectable Mr. Ketchum resign his son at once into the firm which he has betrayed, and invest him again with all the powers of a copartner.—The father received his son with parental affection, and forgave him; but did not invite him the criminal to resume his former desk in Wall street. And yet Edward Ketchum, who had robbed and forced on an unprecedented scale, is as worthy of trust in the old banking house as our rebels in the government of the country. A long probation will be needed before either can be admitted to his former fellowship. The state of outlawry is the present condition of each, and this condition must not hastily be relaxed.

Congress has already set the example by excluding from "any office of honor or profit under the government of the United States," and also by excluding as conseller at law, from any court of the United States, every person who has given "aid or countenance" to the rebellion, or who has "sought or accepted any office whatever" under it, or who has yielded to it any "voluntary support." By this act, (July 2, 1862) and the supplementary act, all rebels are debarred from holding office under the United States, or from practicing in the courts of the United States. This exclusion, thus sanctioned by congress, must be the pole star of our national policy. If rebels cannot be officers under our government, they ought not to be voters. They should be politically disfranchised, purely and simply as a measure of self-defense, and in order to prepare the way for those guarantees which we seek. "Vipers cannot use their venom in the cold." These are words of political wisdom as well as of scientific truth, and a great Italian writer did not hesitate to inculcate the same lesson from them that I do now.

Surely recent rebels who led in secession and held office under the rebellion are poor engineers to rally these communities to the support of national freedom and national creditors, and to the establishment of those guarantees which are essential to security. Reason and experience warn us to postpone our trust in any such persons. Overcome in battle, they wrap themselves in professions of loyalty, confirmed by an oath.

"As they who, to be sure of Paradise, Drive on the words of Dominic, Or in Pausanias think to pass disguised."

But character is not changed in a day, and the "Southern heart," which was "fired" against the Union, still preserves its vindictive violence. Even if for a moment controlled, who can tell how long it will continue in this mood? There is an exquisite fable of La Fontaine, where a cat was turned into a beautiful woman; but on the night of her marriage, hearing the sound of a mouse on the floor, sprang from a bed with all her original feline nature; and so a rebel, turned by an oath into a loyalist, will suddenly start in full cry to run down a national freedman or a national creditor. So strong is nature, Horace tells us: Drive it out with a pitch-fork and it will return: Therefore, I insist, do not put political trust in that man who has been engaged upon his country. I do not ask his punishment. I would not be harsh. There is nothing humane which I would reject. I am for gentleness. I am for a velvet glove; but I wish the hand for a while of iron. I confess I have little sympathy with those hypocrites of magnanimity, whose cry for the rebel master is only a barbarous indifference towards the slave. Pardon into Representative districts, be taken from the table.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Crittenden moved to amend by making the committee to consist of five instead of six.

Which motion prevailed, when the motion as amended was carried.

The chair announced the committee as follows:

Messrs. Jones, Krapf, Pray, Lay, and Parsons.

Mr. Gilbert moved that a committee of three be appointed by the chair to receive proposals from the several publishers of this city for reporting and publishing the proceedings of the board.

The chair appointed as such committee, Messrs. Gilbert, McColl, and Dorr.

Mr. Cole asked to be excused from attendance upon the sessions of the board for two days, on account of sickness in his family.

On motion, leave of absence was granted.

Mr. Childs moved that no claims of any kind be received by the board after Wednesday, October 18th, at 9 o'clock, A. M.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Gilbert moved that the committee on claims be instructed to allow no claims against the county without the affidavit of the claimants, that they have rendered the services and have received no compensation therefor, unless certified to by the proper officers.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Cole moved to adjourn until 9 o'clock to-morrow morning.

Which motion was carried, and the board thereupon adjourned.

The Ypsilanti Commercial.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY, BY
C. R. PATTISON.

THE COMMERCIAL AND THE TRIBUNE CORRESPONDENT.

"The Ypsilanti Commercial" is published by C. R. Pattison, and though a fair paper is still capable of improvement somewhat in the matter of enterprise."—Cor. Detroit Tribune.

We are at a loss to know how to take the above. We admit that our paper is susceptible of much improvement. More enterprise would not damage it. But the impression conveyed is that there is total lack of enterprise.

It being known in this community as so palpably false that we should have forbore to have noticed the squib were not its influence abroad calculated to damage our advertising patronage.

In addition we have a number of friends scattered over the State, who have known us in another public capacity, as the representative of an important benevolent organization, and in the prosecution of which we had not the credit of being unenterprising.

The above statement will fall under their eye and give them to understand that our newspaper enterprise is a partial failure. We entered upon the publication of the Commercial under discouraging circumstances. Several efforts to sustain a Republican journal had been made, and resulted in a signal failure. Republicans and others had no faith in its success. Large numbers were afraid to subscribe and pay in advance, for fear of losing their money. Weekly papers were at a discount. War's alarms created on the part of the public a morbid desire to secure daily news. Such an enterprise so near Detroit, right under the big guns of the Tribune and its antagonistic contemporary, seemed at least disheartening. We bought a broken down office—and that on "tick." We have run it a little over eighteen months—have thrived its value in material, for which no man living can call us debtor to-day a penny.

We can boast of as large a list of paying subscribers as any paper in Washtenaw county. As regards home advertising patronage we are largely ahead of any paper in the county. No dead advertisements have ever disgraced our columns. Enterprise solely has pushed us ahead. It may be that the publication of the letter is educational and church directories of the city—home and Detroit market reports—R. R. time tables, the fullest local reports as to home enterprise and whatever concerns the prosperity of our town, entitles us to the charge of lacking in "enterprise." If so, we acknowledge the corn and declare the insinuation true. If success in an eminent degree, pecuniary and otherwise, the almost universal commendation of our subscribers and a constantly increasing list, is an index of a want of enterprise, then we are content. Very well. We will keep right on in our chosen path.

What the Tribune could do to break us down, it has done. Soon after we started it secured a reporter from Ypsilanti. These reports were calculated to damage our circulation, as we were frequently met with the assertion "There is no use of taking a local paper, for we have all the local news in the Tribune." An assertion that we do not much hear now, for we have made it our study to far exceed those reports in fullness and correctness.

Instead of quarrelling with the Tribune for this discourteous step towards the country press, we have and do challenge it to beat us if it can. It is a fact that these reports have to quite an extent been made up from our columns, and it is not an uncommon occurrence for the readers of the Tribune to turn to our columns, for a correction of erroneous statements in that paper. Before we dismiss the subject we call upon the Tribune to explain a certain fact. Why does it persistently run down the local Republican press near Detroit? The further distant a Republican paper is from Detroit, the more smiles it gets from the Tribune. The nearer Detroit the more frowns. It reserves its compliments and favors for copperhead papers near home, and gives the loyal papers left-handed kicks. Does the explanation consist in an innate desire to "take off" its able contemporary, or is it depraved self interest.

We cheerfully endorse the political position occupied by the Tribune. It is radical, manly and right. Just such an organ as we need in Detroit. But let it maintain a just position towards its country competers and mutually we can labor to promote the welfare of our State country, the elevation of man.

THE CATHOLIC CEMETERY.

In his letter of Oct. 24, the Rev. E. Vanhammel stated "that the committee had informed him that an exchange had been agreed upon and that both parties seemed to be perfectly satisfied." We, the undersigned, constituted said committee, and we are ready to testify, at any time, that, as stated, an exchange was agreed upon, and that both parties "seemed" to be perfectly satisfied.

When Mr. Jarvis understood that we could have possession of the land bought of him, he expressed his surprise that we had made such a poor selection for a cemetery, and stated that he had a place on his farm more suitable for such a purpose.

When we had consented to take the "better place," and agreed with him on the price of $200 per acre, he certainly "seemed" to be satisfied; and, when speaking to one of us, made use of the following or a similar expression: "no one can have any objection to a burying ground there." We surely went home with the impression, from what we had seen and heard, that he was satisfied with the exchange.

It is true, in his letter to the Commercial, of the 14th inst., Mr. Jarvis does not positively deny the statements above made; but some sentences are so worded, that they could be construed as meaning a denial.

Mr. Jarvis "finds there is hope in his case." We do not see what hope he needs after the agreement he made. Perhaps he thinks he has found "hope" in the foolish notion of Mr. Joslin, who, we suppose to repay a certain class of citizens, who would not vote for him last year, he has impressed him, (Mr. Jarvis) with the idea that the board of health has perfect control over cemeteries, and can remove and locate them wherever and whenever they please, in spite of anybody, whether they are nuisances or not, and that consequently, as every one must see, they can nullify all the laws of the State with regard to cemeteries. We know this is Mr. Joslin's explanation of the law; for he tried with the same explanation, to frighten us out of our rights. Yet he knows better, for he stated to a friend of ours that he thought we could hold the place. He has tried to make the board of health take the same view of the law, but it seems they "could not see it."

Mr. Jarvis says that it (viz: our cemetery matter) is the "meanest, the most unneighborly, ungentlemanly, not to say unchristianlike transaction he has ever experienced." We are sorry that he has made use of such language, for it brings us under the disagreeable necessity of stating that Mr. Jarvis' conduct towards us has been very "mean," very unneighborly, very "ungentlemanlike," "not to say unchristianlike," if it is unchristianlike to tell lies.

For on the 7th inst., in presence of the board of health, he twice positively denied that he made such an agreement as herein above mentioned. Beside we have it from a gentleman of Ypsilanti, that Mr. Jarvis told him that he did agree as above stated, to the bargain; but that, when he had been made to believe that he could get us away entirely, he "backed out." Very honorable forsooth, very neighborly, very gentlemanly, and very christianlike.

We conclude with saying that we claim only the rights, which the laws of the State secure to all; and we are unwilling to believe that a fair, liberal minded community will find fault with us, if we express our determination to defend our rights.

CURRENT EVENTS.

The late elections are auspicious. They speak plainly the lesson that the Republican party is still a living institution. Had the Republicans of Ohio inscribed Negro Suffrage on their banners, they would have carried a much larger vote. Iowa did nobly. The prospect now looks fair for New York. When we carry Pennsylvania by an increased majority, look out for New York. If appearances don't deceive us we shall rout the rebel copperhead sham Democracy in New Jersey, foot and dragons. The following are the splendid Republican majorities: Vermont, 20,000; Maine, 22,000; Pennsylvania, 25,000; Ohio, 35,000; Iowa, 20,000; Kentucky, has a very large gain, 84,000. Indiana, in town elections, has a large gain over the Presidential election last fall. The above don't look like much of a reaction.

A delegation from South Carolina has made an ineffectual effort to secure the pardon of Jeff. Davis. —A national Fenian Convention has been held in Philadelphia, composed of 600 delegates. The Free Press exhorts the Fenians to let Ireland alone for the present, and turn their attention to the saving of the Democratic party. —Gen. Lee has taken the oath of allegiance as follows:

I, Robert E. Lee, of Lexington, Va., do solemnly swear in the presence of Almighty God, that I will henceforth faithfully support, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States and the union of States thereunder; and that I will in like manner abide by and faithfully support all laws and proclamations which have been made during the existing rebellion with reference to the emancipation of slaves, so help me God. Signed, ROBERT E. LEE.

It will do if he lives up to it, which he has not done hitherto. —President Johnson has taken a noble stand in behalf of negro testimony before the courts. The Mexican cause headed by Juarez, is reduced to great straits; having only some 7,000 guerrillas left him, scattered over the country. —The Baptist State Convention held its annual session at Grand Rapids the present week. It seems to have been an interesting occasion. —A great calamity has befallen the Mich. Central. Their Detroit freight house with all its contents has been destroyed by fire. The Tribune details the origin of the fire:

"A train of cars was being loaded with freight in the second section, or room, of the depot, devoted exclusively to goods going to Chicago and further west. Four or five cars were already filled, and another had been partially loaded, when it was discovered that a half barrel of varnish had been broken, and its contents were spreading over the car. The work of unloading the freight, to prevent its damage by the varnish, was at once commenced, and while going on the light in the hands of one of the workmen, came in contact with the varnish, and in an instant the whole car was filled with smoke and flame. The fire spread with terrible rapidity, so that all efforts to stay its progress by the means at hand were utterly futile. In the excitement of the moment, the burning car, with those ahead of it on the track, was run from where it was being loaded—near the Third street end of the depot—to the westerly end of the structure into the open air. The burning material dropped from the car as it passed, thus firing the building at numerous points at once."

The fire spread with great rapidity. The freight depot was 500 feet in length, and at the west end was a wooden shed 200 feet long, filled with cotton, tobacco, and flour. It was with great difficulty that the passenger house was saved. The Grand Trunk lost all their freight offices. The flames rolled up in vast masses, and illuminated miles distant. The estimated loss is $1,000,000.

A. H. Stevens has been liberated, and his views seem to be eminently liberal. —Gov. Crapo has the assurance that all Mich. troops in the service will be discharged by the 1st of Dec. —The eclipse Thursday last was shut out from view by a thick veil of clouds. It was unusually dark about 10 A. M. indicating that the "show" was coming off according to announcement. —Gold, 146½.

PROBATE NOTICE.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Wash.

I, the undersigned, Clerk of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, holden at the Probate Office, in the city of Ann Arbor, on Monday, the 9th day of October, in the year One thousand Eight hundred and Sixty-Five, Present, Hiram J. Beakes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the Estate of Mortimer Crittenden, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Ezra D. Lay, praying that he may be appointed Administrator of the estate of said deceased.

Thereupon, it is ordered, That Monday, the Twentieth day of November next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the widow and heirs at law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are then to appear at a session of said Court, in the city of Ann Arbor, and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted: And it is further ordered, that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the day of said session, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Ypsilanti Commercial, a public newspaper, printed and circulated in said County, three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the condition of certain indenture of mortgage made by Orange Risdon Jr. of Saline in the County of Washtenaw and State of Michigan, to Berce Stebbins of Washtenaw and State of New York bearing date the nineteenth day of December, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-nine, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for said Washtenaw County, Michigan, on the 21st day of December, A. D. 1859 at 4 1/2 o'clock, P. M. in liber 26 of Mortgages on page 331—by which default the power of sale in said mortgage contained became operative, and the amount claimed due on said mortgage at the date of said notice being nine hundred ninety eight Dollars and sixty-seven cents, and no sum or proceeding at law having been instituted to collect or recover the same or any part thereof.

Notice is therefore hereby given, that on Wednesday the twenty-seventh day of December, 1865, at one o'clock in the afternoon, at the south door of the Court House in the city of Ann Arbor, in said Washtenaw County, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale at public vendue, to the highest bidder, of the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount then due on said mortgage with costs of sale allowed by law, or provided in said mortgage, which mortgage premises are therein described as follows, to-wit: "The west half of the north-west quarter of section six in Township four south of range 14 east, containing seventy-nine acres of land, be the same more or less. The above description is not intended to include fractions of land located by said Orange Risdon Jr. to Christopher C. Lashier." Dated September 20th, 1865.

BERCE STEBBINS, Mortgagee
D. B. GREENE, Atty for Mortgagee.

SALE OF CHURCH PROPERTY.—The undersigned Trustee of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Augusta, Washtenaw County, Michigan, hereby gives notice that they will apply by petition to the Circuit Court of Washtenaw County at its next session at the city of Ann Arbor, for leave to sell the property owned and occupied by such church as a place of worship, being about three acres on the east half of southwest quarter of section seven in Augusta aforesaid, and more fully described in their said petition, and to apply the proceeds of such sale to furnish a more desirable parsonage for the use of said church.

Business in Ypsilanti.

We think we never saw more teams in Ypsilanti on an ordinary business day than last Saturday. The streets were literally lined. The merchants reaped a harvest. We hear a lady remark, "What piles and piles of goods there are at Post's. It doesn't seem as if he would ever sell them." Some of our business men are at last bursting the wibes that bound them to false notions of trade in Ypsilanti. It has been argued so long that we were shut up to a limited territory in trade that many of our business men, to the detriment of the town, had come to act upon it. We assure you gentlemen, that "no pent up Ulica contracts your powers." It is true Detroit East, Plymouth and Northville North Monroe South, Saline and Ann Arbor west, compete with Ypsilanti for the trade of a wide section of country, but there is no earthly reason why we should surrender it. We have done so too long already. Let the people know what facilities you have to furnish this contested territory with goods. The grand difficulty has been you come and get a single thousand say of bills. They are circulated of course in a limited territory, cover the ground already occupied, scarcely go beyond the bounds of the city. You thus compete with one another and are content. 5,000 to 10,000 bills are few enough. After the first thousand they cost half the sumptuousness. Scatter thoroughly thro' all this debated ground, your bulletins, and keep doing so. You will accomplish two results. 1st you will acquaint the people with your respective firms. The name or names of your firms will become a household word 2d, you will impress the minds of the people that Ypsilanti is the place to trade. A man who lives two thirds the way to Monroe, if he can be convinced that he can save $2.50 in $100, by coming to Ypsilanti he will come. A farmer living several miles beyond Saline if he can be made to believe that he can save one per cent. by trading here, that is just the thing he will do. If a merchant can sell a stock of goods in three months instead of six he can afford to sell for less profit. The nimble squire comes more and further than the slow shilling. We suppose that some of our business men will exclaim, "What does the Commercial know about selling our goods? The advice has its root in selfishness. The Commercial man wants us to patronize his presses. Very well honesty being the best policy as well as inherently right we don't disguise the fact. We believe that our interests coincide. If our presses help a merchant to sell $100,000 worth of goods when otherwise he would not sell over $50,000 we claim a share in the honor and benefit. If 100 people can be induced to make Ypsilanti a trading point where now only 50 do so, our business will receive a stimulus as well as all other manufacturing departments. But more on this subject hereafter.

McLachlin and Hurlbert have moved into their new store in Jenness Block. It is really an inviting place. They are bringing on a large stock of Clothing, Dry Goods &c. Look out for a lively competition.

The recent cold weather has admonished farmers to make haste and gather in their crops, consequently the market for wheat has been dull. The Ypsilanti Woolen Mills Co. bought on Saturday last 1,600 bushels. It is a remarkable fact and speaks well of Ypsilanti as a market that this season is the first in 20 years that a number of thousands of bushels have not been imported from the west to keep the mill running. This year not a bushel. In consequence of the rise in freights wheat has experienced a small decline. If we had wheat to sell we should have sold off before the close of navigation. All kinds of mechanical labor is being driven. Edwards & Cooper are hard pressed with jobs crowding upon them. Not an idle hand need be in our city for the next six weeks.

Our Experience in Dentistry.
Readers, have you ever submitted to an operation at the hands of a Dentist? But why ask the question? In this day of early decayed teeth few there are who have not had masticators scraped, plugged or yanked out or in more polite phrase, cleaned, filled and extracted. The day is not far back when the victim of tooth ache had to submit to the ugly Turnkey. Once decayed, the tooth was a "goner." There was no salvation for it. But thanks to science, even where the nerve has been reached by disease the tooth can be saved to bless the owner. Admonished by the inroads of time, that something must be done or stop eating, we made our way to the office of Dr. Gerry over the National Bank. We remember that 12 years ago he filled some difficult cavities for us and that they remained as serviceable for all we know as in their natural state. To our surprise we ascertained that time had done a greater mischief than we at first supposed, that instead of some few little cavities to fill, large ones difficult of access must be attended to. We had a distinct remembrance of grating sensations, nerves put to a very provoking tension. But the Dr. took the tooth so good-naturedly as to place us at our ease. But almost human skill and experience can't circumvent pain when the delicate steel instruments come within a hair's breadth of the sensitive nerve. Well, here are a couple of cavities between a pair of incisors that must be separated. And here that great desideratum of modern times the elastic india rubber comes into play. A piece put between the teeth slowly and surely presses them apart. It aches but that is only an incident. One feels like the Father who bought his son a pup. The savage little fellow one day seized the Father and held him on. Said Young America, "grin and bear it, Pap, it will be the making of the pup." So we felt that it would be the making of the teeth and bore it. But next to the grating, cutting, scraping, boring, there is a good deal such a feeling about the pocket as that produced by the hangman's rope around the neck of a doomed criminal, seeing the amount of Gold Foil consumed. It used to be a small matter when a couple of dollars was the extreme figure that could be crowded into a cavity but when it counts up from $2.00 to $10.00 it may well wake up nervous sensations. The poor man must assuredly become toothless. We imagine there are some profits. But then not enough to tempt the Dentist to imitate the venient practitioner who, boring, sweating and tugging over a perfect tooth was asked by the impatient subject, "Do you find any cavities?" "No sir," he responded "I am trying to make one. What every one wishes is a permanent job. This we believe the patron of Dr. Gerry is sure to secure well done and as permanent as human skill can make it. If you must go through the mill, do as we did, go to the Dr. and try him.

Festival.
FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS—The Union Sunday School of the 4th and 5th wards propose to have a Festival. It is very much in need of books and papers. The Methodist folks have had their fair, and excursion, and festival. Presbyterians, their festival and excursion. The Baptist their excursions. The Catholics their festivals. All the above have been liberally patronized by the public. This Sunday school though equally deserving, has been very modest in its claims upon the public. May we not, without being considered impudent present the claims of this School for your consideration. It is the only School at present on the east side, and has therefore special demands upon the citizens of the 4th and 5th wards. It is a Union School and can rightfully appeal to all. Will not the citizens generally turn out and loan to the children for books and papers their 10 cents and quarters. They will richly return their loan by and by, becoming better men and women and more useful citizens. The Festival is to be held at the Advent Church on Friday afternoon and evening next. The admission will be 10 cents. COMMITTEE.

Don't forget—this celebrated troupe of vocalists and bell-ringers appear at Hewitt hall this evening.

DIED.

TYLER—At Berwick, R. I., Aug. 28th, Miss Susan G. Tyler.

The subject of the above notice was several years a resident of Ypsilanti, and as such a very warm friend of the town who mourn her early death. She was a successful teacher in the State Normal School, and by her faithful discharge of duty, secured the highest esteem of her associate teachers, and enlisted the warmest affections of her pupils. All who knew her loved her. None who were present, will forget her few impressive words addressed to her pupils two years since, when about to leave them for England. "There will be chains stronger than gold to unite our hearts, though the Atlantic roll between us." We mourn her loss more particularly as a member of the Ypsilanti Home Association. She was one of the oldest and most active members of the Association, and in her death we feel that we have sustained an irreparable loss. She was present at the organization of the society, was for a number of years Secretary, was always earnest and cheerful amid the difficulties which every association has to encounter in its infancy. Assisted by her labors and prayers, she lived to see the association firmly established, influential and useful. She was seldom absent from any meeting of the society, and by her cheerful spirit, did much to make these meetings attractive. Her literary efforts were interesting and instructive. In her death we are reminded of the loss of another valued member, who was earlier removed from us. Miss Tyler and Mrs. Sheldon were united in their labors for the association; we trust they are reunited to be forever with the Lord. Therefore, Resolved, 1. That we tender our sincerest sympathy to the friends of the deceased in the heavy affliction which has visited them. We desire the privilege of mingling our tears with theirs. They have lost a daughter and sister, we a fellow worker, counselor and friend. We feel that our loss cannot soon be made up to us; still we bow in submission to the will of one who knows better than what is best for us, feeling that our loss is her great gain. Resolved, 2. That a copy of this report be sent to the editor of the Ypsilanti Commercial for publication, and that copies be placed in the hands of the relatives of the deceased.

Mrs. B. F. FOLLETT, Vice Pres.

Mrs. E. L. RIPLEY, Sec'y.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Change of Climate always involves danger unless precautions are taken to prevent it. Fortify with the RAD JACKET BITTERS, and bid defiance to the vicissitudes of temperature and exhalations generated by excessive heat acting on a swampy soil.

"And this our life, apart from public haunts, Finds sermons in stones, books in the running brooks, And good in everything." The wan, dyspeptic expression of feature, so familiar to Americans, has formed the text upon which Dr. Drake has based the medical experiments that have produced the great tonic of the day—PLANTATION BITTERS.

DEATH.

Cannot touch those who use Roback's Bitters While Roback's Bitters are kept in the family circle sickness never enters. These Bitters have been found to be a perfect antidote for removing the first symptoms of nearly all diseases, if taken in the proper time. They are composed of ingredients which are known by the medical faculty to be most efficacious in disorders of the stomach and intestines. Their medical properties are so various that they prove beneficial in all complaints, of whatever nature they may be; hence their great demand and the universal good derived from their use.

A judicious use of these Bitters imparts the rose tint of health to the cheeks and health and vigor to the entire frame.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS.

Whose timely use, under Providence has often saved life. These celebrated vegetable Pills are no new, untried remedy; they have been used and tested in the United States for thirty years, and are relied upon by hundreds of thousands of families as almost their sole medicine when sick. No care or expense is spared in their preparation, and it is certainly true when I assert that no King can have a medicine safer or surer than Brandreth's Pills. The Genuine Brandreth Pill box has upon it a United States Government stamp, with J. B. Brandreth in white letters in the same. oct.

NO HARDEE-HOOD

On the part of the South can prevent the success of the Union arms. Grant and Sherman's policy, like CRISTADORO'S HAIR DYE, everywhere establishes colors which are beautiful in the people's eyes. The hues of the National flag are those of Heaven, but among all the dyes of earth there is none save Cristadoro's that produces instantaneous perfect facsimiles of nature's every shade of black & brown. Manufactured by J. Cristadoro, No. 6 Astor House, New York. Sold by all druggists, applied by all hair dressers. oct.

A Card to Invalids.

A Clergyman, while residing in South America as a missionary, discovered a safe and simple remedy for the cure of Nervous Weakness, Early decay, diseases of the Urinary and Seminal Organs, and the whole train of disorders brought on by baneful and vicious habits. Great numbers have already been cured by this noble remedy. Prompted by a desire to benefit the afflicted and unfortunate, I will send the receipt for preparing and using this medicine, in a sealed envelope, to any one who needs it, free of charge.

Please inclose a stamped envelope, addressed to yourself.

SEED CORN.

Not only should extra care be taken to have all corn designed for planting next Spring thoroughly ripened and dried, but the best ears should be selected. Those ripening first are quite likely to produce the earliest ripening crop when planted again. The largest ears should be taken, and those from the most prolific stalks. Those which are perfect, having the kernels well filled out on both ends, should in all cases be chosen.

These matters are quite too often overlooked. We have known many farmers who have expended five or ten dollars or more per acre in preparing and planting a piece of ground, from which they have gathered half a crop, simply for want of a shilling's worth of time in selecting and preparing the seed, and this, in a greater or less degree, is too much the case generally.

It is like that other piece of bad economy practiced by multitudes who send their children to the district school a year at an expense of from thirty to fifty dollars for clothing, teachers, etc., and yet lose half the benefit to be derived simply because they withhold one extra shilling for a suitable book.

We urge every farmer to go over his cornfield himself, as soon as the crop is ripened, and gather out the best ears we have indicated, and either husk and store them away in a dry room, or go back to the old-fashioned plan of stripping down the husks, braiding them together so that the seed ears may be hung up in the attic or other safe dry place.—Geo. Wood, Gen. Telegraph.

HARVESTING BUCKWHEAT.

The buckwheat crop depends chiefly on the management of the grain between the time of ripening and grinding. The common way of treating buckwheat effectively prevents making good flour, it being allowed to remain in the swath for several weeks, when it should never be suffered to lie longer than a day or two, and it is decidedly better for the grain to make it and set it on end as fast as it is cradled.

Much less grain will be wasted by shelling out the straw well, and drying it sooner and make better fodder; the crop will be ready for thrashing and housing in less time, and the grain will yield a much better quality of flour. It is especially injurious to the grain to be exposed to storms before it is set up, for dirt is scattered all over the grain, by the falling of the large rain drops. It will never be so brittle, nor make so good cakes, but will be sticky and the cakes clammy, like the flour of sprouted wheat.

POTATOES.

As I have worked in the potato field for fifty years, I will give my way of managing the tops. My system has given good satisfaction to others who have practiced it, as myself. My plan is simply to drop them as they fall, as I pull them up, and cover them with the dirt that I draw from the hill. Managed in this manner I never have any trouble with them at plowing time. I can learn a boy in fifteen minutes so that he can do it properly, but it is hard learning, and that for they will cover a few hills and then forgetting will throw them here and there in a slovenly manner. On speaking to them they reply, "O yes, I forgot." To carry off the tops, or to burn them, is loss of time and property. Farmers, try it this year, but don't forget.—Geo. M. E. Farmer.

"EVERY Protective Tariff" we have had found our industry paralyzed, and left it active and prosperous. Never yet was one overthrown on the assumption that the country had been reduced by it to illness and emaciation. Shall such facts be overborne? The South and the West are now largely increasing or repairing their factories; woolen mills, cotton mills, &c., are being erected or refitted almost everywhere. Let well enough alone, while we work our way back to specie payments, which will give us cheap goods, cheaper Food, cheaper Labor, cheaper Paper. If we can only raise from doing mischief, the country will rapidly increase her annual product, until the debt shall seem a negligible and every interest rejoice in a substantial, enduring prosperity.

A FAIR HIT.—Want to see Grant mightily bad, do you, said a blue coat veteran to a fellow soldier, who was in the cars the other morning, on their way to get a quinine at our famous general.

W-a-a-l, why in thunder didn't you come down to the front when we were hit to see you, he answered.

ROBACK'S CHOICE WINES & LIQUORS.

The Wine Growers of the West have discovered that after the Catawba grape has yielded the delicious wine so highly prized, an exceedingly fine flavored brand, possessing rare medicinal properties, can be extracted by careful distillation.

Being ever eager to advance any discovery that tends to an improvement of the sanitary condition of the public, C. W. Roback has constructed a large and costly double copper still, of a peculiar model, with which he produces the Catawba Brandy in its greatest purity, retaining all those medicinal qualities for which it is so much valued and recommended by physicians. HAIR RENEWER

As the name indicates, it not only renews the growth of the hair when thin and falling off, but it positively renews the color to its original shade when it is turning gray or white, whether caused by disease, grief or old age. It will certainly whiten the hair, and it is a fact, to which hundreds of thousands who have used it, are ready and willing to testify. Where one bottle is fairly used in any community, its reputation "spreads like wildfire" and is the best advertisement and recommendation we desire. In the Eastern States, where the "RENEVER" originated, it is used by all Young Ladies as a dressing, and is found in the toilet trunks of young men, also at their barbers, while older men and women will not be without it, as a renewer and restorative for their grey locks and bald heads, which it changes to their entire satisfaction.

We are selling in the city of Boston alone, upwards of 16,000 bottles per month, the dealers giving the RENEVER the preference over all other preparations.

It not only renews the hair in your own hair, but it will be served by express upon receipt of one dollar by mail, thus giving you an opportunity at once for testing its excellent virtues.

Orders for Trial Bottles, must be addressed to our General Agents for the New Western States, C. A. COOK & CO., Chicago, Ill. All such orders will receive prompt attention. R. P. HAILE & CO., Proprietors, Nashua, N.H.
